Bethel's budget cup overfloweth

By MICHAEL DANIELS

On Monday evening, April 29, the Bethel Board of Selectmen and Budget Committee are expected to conclude their review of the town's proposed budget for the upcoming year.

The figures they agree on — or agree to disagree on — will go before voters at the annual Town Meeting in June.

If voters approve the budget as it currently stands, total municipal expenditures for FY03 will be $4,568,059, up from $2,406,085 for FY02.

That sharp increase is due primarily to nearly $2.5 million in capital improvement projects, the largest being $1.9 million to construct a new fire and ambulance garage.

Since the capital improvements would be funded largely from long-term financing, the town's net FY03 municipal expenditure (if they are all approved) would be $1,557,574, up from $1,339,514 for the current year.

To fund the increase, the town's tax rate, currently $16.30 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation, would need to be increased to approximately $18.70, according to figures prepared by the Town Office.

Cuts could still come

The various capital improvement projects are likely to be the focus of much of the discussion Monday evening, with each of the two boards required to make their own

Airport fuel plan doesn't get off the ground

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A proposed new state-of-the-art, self-service fuel system at the Bethel Regional Airport might be the first casualty of the town's difficult budget year — and of uncertainty about the future intentions of the beleaguered American Skiing Company.

Town Manager Scott Cole told the Board of Selectmen and Budget Committee Monday that the Airport Authority believes upgrading the primitive fuel system at the airport would — when combined with the runway expansion that is currently underway — increase the willingness of pilots to land here.

The Airport Authority had requested that the town borrow $40,000 to put toward the estimated $70,000 cost of the new system. The money would have then been paid back by the authority over a three-year period.

But both boards opted against the plan, citing the number of other expenses facing voters this year, and doubts as to the reliability of the Airport Authority's largest source of income: ASC's lease on the GAMM building.

The lease currently generates

PROPOSED TRACK
TELSTAR MIDDLE/HIGH SCHOOL

Efforts that began many years ago to build a track at Telstar high/middle schools will culminate in a district-wide referendum vote June 11. This drawing, by Smith Reuter Lull Architects, was presented at Monday's School Board meeting. If voters approve, the track would be constructed directly behind the school complex. The facility would also include sites for field events, as well as a soccer field in the center of the oval. Spectators could view events from an existing slope located between the track site and the baseball field. Bleachers and a concession stand are depicted, but are not planned for the initial construction. SAD44 officials said if the track is built, public use for both running and walking would be encouraged. The June 11 vote will be for a combined package that also includes renovations to the Telstar auditorium. Current estimates for the total cost of the projects, said Supt. Kent Rosberg, are in the neighborhood of $686,000. A more accurate figure will be determined when the School Board adopts a budget May 13. If the projects are approved, the Bingham Fund would contribute $113,500 of the funding.

Adelphia agrees to extend cable in Newry

By ALISON ALOISIO

If Newry selectmen sign a proposed franchise agreement with Adelphia Communications Corp. May 7, more residents will be able to receive cable service. But others will still remain unconnected.

The board has also scheduled a hearing on the agreement on the 7th, at 9 a.m. at the Town Office.

The signing has been scheduled pending receipt of a letter of commitment from Adelphia by Tuesday, town officials said. The letter would formally outline areas of town to be cabled.

The 10-year franchise agreement was hammered out after many hours of negotiations over the past three years.

Newry currently operates under an extension of an older agreement that lapsed about three years ago.

But many viewers will still be out of the loop

Town officials have been negotiating with Adelphia to extend the service to other parts of town.

Much of Newry did not meet the population-density requirements for cabling, but selectmen have long argued that because of the concentration of business at Sunday River Ski Resort condominiums and hotels, the cable company could afford to service the rest of the town.

Under the new proposal, service would be added along the Bear River Road from Newry Corner up to and including the Branch Road, and on the Riverbank Road near Newry Corner.

In the Sunday River Valley, the Valley View, Mountain View and Deer Run roads would receive service. In the Powder Ridge development the following roads would be cabled: Douglass, Ski View, Mammoth and Vail.

It has not yet been determined if the cable in the Bear River area would connect from lines in Bethel or Hanover. If the Bethel lines were used, town officials said, customers could receive the local Channel 4.

The new cable lines in Newry would cover a total distance of

Long-time Telstar teacher, coach and administrator announces retirement

By ALISON ALOISIO

TMS assistant principal Sally Hannon, a longtime Telstar staff member, will retire at the end of this year, the School Board learned Monday.

Hannon has served as assistant principal of the middle school for the past four years. Supt. Kent Rosberg said he and principal David Murphy will have a proposal in mid-May on how to handle administrative staffing at the school for the future.

"We'll use the same amount of money and see what is the best way to provide services," Rosberg said. "It may be that continuing this position is best, but we will at least look at whether it's the best way to approach it."

Hannon came to Telstar as a physical education teacher when the school opened in 1968. She left for several years during the 1970s, but returned in 1978 to again teach physical education, as well as health.

She became a guidance counselor in 1987, and moved into administration in 1998. Hannon coached field hockey for many years, taking her teams to several championships.

Professionals can help landowners sort out woodlot options

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

The first thing John Laban wants woodlot owners to know is that trees grow. Laban is a forester. He helps woodlot owners manage their lots.

Laban works with a variety of property owners, from those owning thousands of acres to those with just a few. He helps people make a myriad of decisions, from whether or not to put a parcel in tree growth to whether or not to clear-cut a stand of diseased trees. He helps with paperwork, from filing applications for tree growth to filing tax forms.

The aesthetic forest

Laban said that one of the most common things he hears is, "I'd

'It is like weeding a garden. Take out trees that are less desirable in terms of your personal objectives, in order to promote growth, health, and well being of desirable species.'

JOHN LABAN
Professional Forester

like it to look like it does now in 20 years."

"What people don't realize is that requires a lot of work. It's already changing, right this second."

Woodlots, Laban said, can be managed from a variety of perspectives. These include income production, wildlife management, watershed protection, recreation, and aesthetics.

"Most people, when you really talk to them, put aesthetics at the head of the list," Laban said. "And most people integrate their management plans to include a variety of perspectives. If you manage for wildlife, you want trails and places to sit where you can watch the wildlife, so it's recreation and aesthetics. You want clean water for the wildlife, so it's also watershed management."

Tree growth tax savings

Probably one of the biggest decisions a woodlot owner has to make is whether or not to put land in tree growth.

The intent of the tree growth law is to conserve Maine's working forests and forest economy. The law offers a substantial tax incentive to preserve parcels as small as 10 acres in productive forestry.

According to Kristen Mason, Bethel town clerk, one Bethel landowner with 124 acres in tree growth, paid $251.91 in property taxes this year. If that land were not in tree growth, Mason said the taxes would have been $524.86.

The law also includes a disincentive to removing land from tree growth.

"If a person ever intends to put a building or structure on that land, or thinks they may, leave that part of the land out of tree growth," Laban said, "because the roll back penalty is severe."

Land removed from tree growth is subject to a penalty of between 20 and 30 percent of the difference between the tree growth value and the assessed value, depending on the length of time the land has been in tree growth.

A production forest

For land to be placed in tree growth, it must be used for commercial forest production and have a management plan which has been approved by a forester.

"The thing people should know," Laban said, "is that there is no definition of 'commercial forest production' in the law. Anything, from fir boughs for Christmas wreaths to a cord of wood to sell to your neighbor can be considered commercial forest production. You can qualify with the tree growth law by doing that little."

THE SHOW WON'T GO ON

To the Editor:

The Mahosuc Arts Council would like to announce the cancellation of the musical, "A Chorus Line," scheduled for Saturday, April 27. Due to circumstances beyond our control the production will not be touring to Bethel. We apologize for any disappointment or inconvenience this may cause. We look forward to sponsoring other arts events this summer including Mollycoddle Day and the Libbie Goodridge Kneeland Memorial Summer Series of gazebo concerts.

MAMMOGRAMS AVAILABLE

To the Editor:

There are lots of excuses for not getting a mammogram: "I can't afford it, they say it hurts, my insurance won't pay, my last one was OK. I'd know if there was a problem, no one in my family has had breast cancer. I don't want to know..."

Western Maine Community Action is proud to announce that it has received a $9,400 grant from the Susan B. Komen Foundation to fund "Early Care," the breast health program which provides free breast cancer screening services to eligible women ages 35 to 49 in Androscoggin, Oxford, and Franklin counties.

Free on-site clinical breast exams and referrals for free mammograms at local mammogram facilities are now available through WMCA's reproductive health and family planning program, Tri-County Health Services. Women qualify for the program if they are age 35 to 49 and do not have insurance to cover the costs of these services and have a family income fitting into the guidelines, i.e. family of one, yearly income of $20,880; family of two, yearly income of $28,140; family of four, yearly income of $42,630.

We are very excited to have the opportunity to offer Early Care breast health services for women of this younger age group. This state is fortunate to have the Maine Breast and Cervical Health Program, which traditionally funds breast cancer (and cervical cancer) screening services for similarly eligible women who are 50 years old or over. It's great to be able to offer free breast health services to younger women who are still very much in need of breast cancer screening. The Early Care program does not cover cervical cancer screening (pap smears).

Most women know someone who has had breast cancer and most of us women fear that it could happen to us. We can even play mind games with ourselves and say, "what I don't know won't hurt me." But with breast cancer, what you don't know can hurt you. Monthly self breast exams, yearly clinical breast exams by a healthcare provider, and periodic mammograms can put a woman's mind at ease if all is well, and save their life if there is a problem.

Early Care pays for the clinical breast exam part of the annual exam and for a mammogram, if needed. If a full annual exam is done, there may be charges for other parts of the annual exam (i.e. pap smear), which are not covered by this program. Family income and a sliding fee scale determine fees for those services.

Tri-County Health Services has offices in Auburn (795-4007 or (800)-645-9636), Farmington (778-4553), Norway (743-2066), and Rumford (364-3960) and offers a wide range of expert, affordable gynecological and family planning services including: annual exams, birth control, pregnancy testing and options counseling, midlife women's services, management of common gyn problems such as urinary and vaginal infections, etc, evaluation of abnormal pap smears, sexually transmitted infection testing and treatment. For more information or to make an appointment, please call the nearest TCHS office.

Western Maine Community Action is a nonprofit agency providing services to people in Franklin, Androscoggin, and Oxford counties since 1965. Each of its programs strives to connect each person it serves to the services and opportunities that meet their unique needs. She said Wednesday she plans a career change, but did not elaborate.

Supt's contract extended

The board Monday also extended Rosberg's contract to FY07, and agreed on a salary for FY04. Rosberg will be paid $83,017. His salary for FY03, which had already been set, will be $80,210, with a $9,980 benefit package.

Benefits for later years have not yet been determined.

Directors were also notified of the resignation of Telstar High School math teacher Jason Hewitt, who plans to attend graduate school.

recommendation on the individual items.

While there appears to be strong support for many, if not most, of the projects, there is also a strong realization of the substantial financial impact they would have on town taxpayers.

"There is a tremendous number of wonderful projects," said Budget Committee member Bob Chadbourne, "but quite frankly, I don't think we can afford to fund everybody's wish list."

Budget Committee Chairman Pat Doonen agreed, saying: "We've got more wants in this budget than people can afford."

In addition to the new fire and ambulance garage, other large-ticket capital investments that have been proposed include: various road and sidewalk improvements ($253,000), a new ambulance ($120,000), construction of a town swimming facility on the North Road ($110,000), a new highway truck, with gear ($72,000), a new police cruiser ($24,000), and electrical and plumbing work in Odeon Hall ($15,000).

Operational expenses

Before they get to capital expenses next week, the two boards must first make their recommendations on 11 remaining departmental budgets.

In a two-hour meeting on Monday of this week, the boards reviewed and made their recommendations on 10 other departments (including the majority of the largest).

There was little disagreement on these. Although there were scores of individual line items involved — adding up to nearly $1.5 million in expenses — the two boards disagreed on only a single item, for $2,000.

This was a request from the 2003 Committee for money to finish work on the town's new comprehensive plan.

The budgeteers were not buying. Citing dissatisfaction with the 2003 Committee's recent foray into regulating development in Bethel Station, they voted 7-1 to recommend the item not be funded.

The selectmen disagreed, and voted unanimously to recommend the funding.

Selectman Reggie Brown said it was foolish not to properly finish a long-term project into which the town had already invested significant time and money.

And Selectman Don Bennett said that not completing the job would amount to "pulling the rug out on a process that was sanctioned enthusiastically by the town many years ago."

Town Meeting voters will have the final word.

9.37 miles, according to Shelley Wichenbach of Adelpia.

She said Adelpia generally requires 15 houses per mile on a road to qualify for cable, and the roads to be added are below that number. Despite the low density, because of the negotiations Adelpia will cable the roads, Wichenbach said.

Some roads were ruled out because they are more sparsely populated. If the density increases in the future, they might then be cabled, she said.

"Best we can do"

On Tuesday, selectmen held a hearing on a new ordinance that spells out the procedure for the future for awarding and renewing cable contracts.

Resident Dick Clark — who lives on the Bear River Road three miles beyond where service would end — took the opportunity to express his frustration over the situation.

"We're letting them in here to do business, and now they're telling us what to do," he said.

"There are no other players (competitors)," said Wight. "We have to hope we can convince them to extend service (if the density $52,000 of the authority's $60,000 in annual income, Cole said, and there are two years remaining on it.

But, he noted, there is no assurance ASC will choose to renew the lease, and it would not be difficult for the lease to be terminated even before the current period is up.

Cole said ASC told him it has no plans to do the latter. When he asked about it, he was told: "Yes. We're there."

"And," the town manager added, "I don't want to question that answer."

Dutch Dresser, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said he believed the new system was a good idea, especially in view of the airport expansion, but he said he was not willing to push the idea "in a budget year like this."

He suggested that the Airport Authority explore other funding mechanisms for the project. "I think we'd be willing to listen to them if they come back after seeking other sources," he said.

Dresser asked if there was anyone on either board who felt the matter should be pursued further at this point.

No one volunteered, and the request was then dropped for the present, without a formal vote.

Foresters

"But the law's emphasis is to maintain that land for a healthy, productive forest. You can manage for wildlife or recreation, but commercial forestry production has to be a part of the mix."

Laban said he sees more and more people putting land into tree growth. At the same time, he sees a tendency for tax laws to put more and more constraints on land use.

"You never know where the tree growth law is going in the political process. People get uncomfortable, and rightfully so."

"People should also know that to put land in tree growth, you must have a management plan, but it's not part of public record, unless you receive state or federal funding. All you have to do is swear to the town that you have one."

Developing a management plan

A management plan for a forest tract combines the principles of agriculture with the principles of investing in the stock market — it's farming for a long-term investment.

The plan will include an inventory of existing trees and soils. It should establish the goals the landowner has for the land, from aesthetics to profit.

Many landowners, Laban said, want to practice sustainable forestry. "I think they mean we're talking about maintaining the forest intact while removing a part of it for one reason or another — maintenance as opposed to liquidation harvesting."

"It is like weeding a garden," Laban said. "Take out trees that are less desirable in terms of your personal objectives, in order to promote growth, health, and well being of desirable species."

But he points out that different species of trees need different management practices. White Pine responds well to selective cutting. Balsam fir doesn't, and need to be cut in clumps. Paper birch needs light to regenerate.

"A lot of trees need different things. That means you cut in such a manner that when you return, you're still going to have the forest you want intact."

Managing a forest well can be profitable. Currently, a mature pine tree is worth about $170 to a land owner. A veneer-quality red oak may be worth as much as $1,500.

Many landowners, fearing they may harm their forests, wait too long before harvesting, and don't realize the profits they could make, Laban said.

"We happen to live in one of the most glorious tree-producing places on the planet. The glaciated soils want to do nothing but grow trees," Laban said.

"An intelligent landowner works with nature. Our real effort is to kick nature up a gear, and to reap the value of the forests before nature renders it useless from a commercial perspective."

Laban said people should choose a forester as carefully as they choose a primary care physician.

increases). This looks like the best we can do to this point."

Under the agreement, Newry would receive 5 percent of Adelpia's franchise fee annually, an amount totaling several thousand dollars. Selectmen briefly discussed the feasibility of using those funds toward financing the laying of cable to other parts of town.

The estimated cost to extend cable the remaining three miles up the Bear River Road was $79,200, and to extend it farther up the Sunday River Road (from Monkey Brook to Nordic Knoll) would be $72,000.

"Have your forester take you out and show you jobs he's conducted. If you don't like the way any of them look, rethink managing with that forester. Beware of hiring any forester that's trying to tell you how to manage your land instead of interpreting your objectives. While the result may be something he's pleased with, it's a toss-up whether or not you will be."

The benefits of a forester

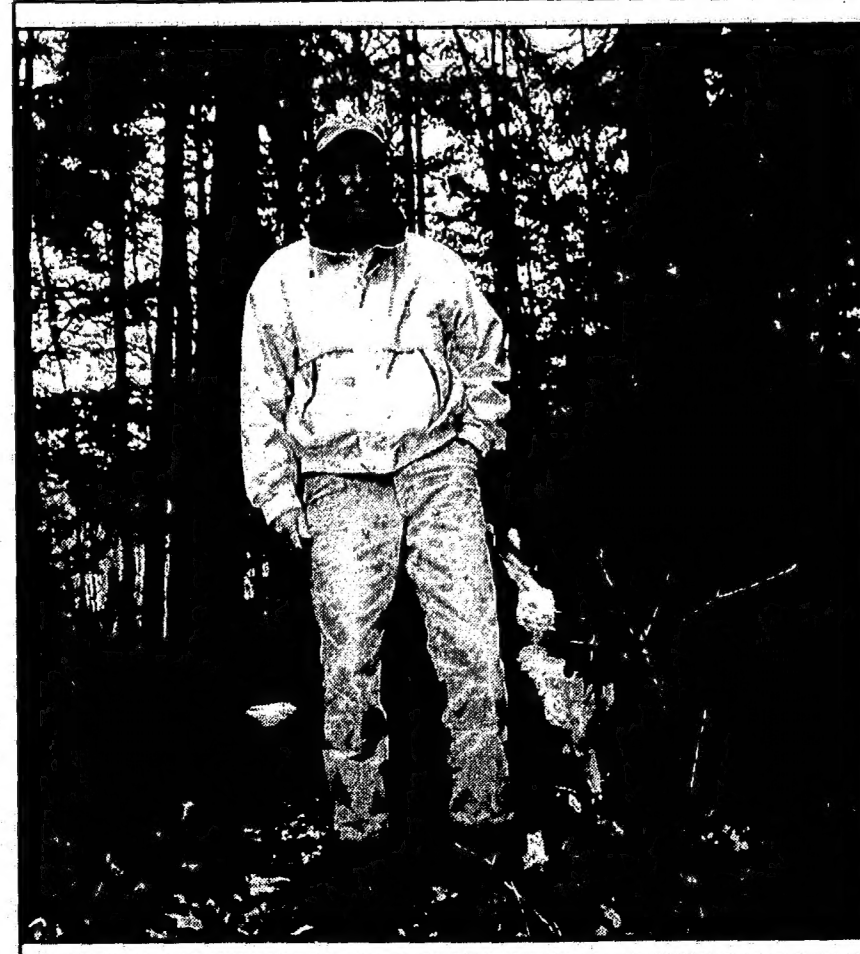

Laban said there are a number of advantages to working with a forester.

"From a legal standpoint, there are so many laws, rules, and regulations that the average person isn't aware they must comply with."

Beyond writing a forestry plan, a forester can help landowners mark wood for cutting, hire and monitor a logger, keep records, and help with filing taxes.

One local company, Bethel Furniture Stock, pays landowners a small premium when it purchases logs that have been marked by a forester. Company President Leon Favreau said, "It helps landowners improve their property and improve their forestry."

Laban also recommends people interested in managing their woodlots join Small Woodland Owners Association of Maine (SWOAM). "Their newsletters and workshops are full of useful information and very well done. It's a good organization. For $24 membership, you can't beat it."

IN HIS ELEMENT
John Laban of Bethel helps owners of woodlots, large or small, manage their land in ways that meet their goals, be they aesthetics, wildlife management, recreation, water protection, or profit. Laban is just one of several area foresters who can help landowners with everything from writing a management plan, to supervising a harvest, to preparing tax forms.

Woodstock gathers motocross info

WOODSTOCK—Town offices in Greene and Turner have reported no complaints about motocross tracks located in their towns, Woodstock selectman Steve Bies said last week. Bies contacted the towns after local citizens expressed concerns about a motocross track planned for property on the Cushman Road. Neighbors said they were worried about noise, traffic, damage to roads, and use of alcohol. Bies also contacted the Maine Department of Transportation regarding possible traffic problems on the Cushman Road or Route 26. He said MDOT told him a formal study would be done only if 200 vehicles or more an hour were expected to enter and exit the site, and that scenario was unlikely. Bruce Korhonen, who plans to build the track, said it would be used for no more than six events a year, and use of alcohol would be prohibited. The town does not have jurisdiction over the plan because, officials said, there are no ordinances governing such projects.

Teamwork keeps fire in check

BETHEL—Four area fire departments combined Thursday to keep a silo fire at Bethel Furniture Stock from doing extensive damage. Richard Roy of BFS speculated that a hot ember from a nearby smokstack likely landed on sawdust in the silo, starting a fire that then worked its way deeper into the 40-foot-high silo. Although the silo is made of concrete and metal and not very susceptible to damage, there was concern the blaze could spread to other buildings, Roy said. The fire departments spent about six hours at the site making sure the fire was out.

Town uses junkyard checklist

GREENWOOD—Selectmen last week approved a checklist for inspecting junkyard sites. Town Manager Carol Whitman said it was drawn up to ensure equal treatment for all junkyards. Selectmen used the guide this past Saturday for inspecting a site on the property of Tom Warden, who has the only junkyard in Greenwood with a legal permit. They will consider whether to renew the permit at their next meeting.

Chip workers to unionize

WEST PARIS—Workers at the Price Companies' chip mill have voted to unionize, following a secret-ballot vote April 12. The workers voted 12-8 in favor of joining the Paper, Allied-Industrial, Chemical and Energy Worker International Union (PACE). It was uncertain whether the eight opposed would be required to join, but future workers must. The union, which has about 8,000 members in Maine, will begin contract negotiations with Price in the near future. A vote by 15 company truck drivers to unionize tied at 7-7, with the eligibility of the 15th vote in question. The National Labor Relations Board is considering the vote and is expected to rule on the ballot.

Former coach pleads guilty

PARIS—A former Buckfield Junior-Senior High School basketball coach pled guilty last week to two counts of misdemeanor assault. The plea allowed her to avoid a trial on felony charges of having had sex with two boys on her team three years ago. Lori Bradley, 32, could be sentenced to up to 90 days in jail. A sentencing date is scheduled for September. Bradley denies the allegations. Her attorney said she made the plea agreement for her family and to spare all parties the trauma of a trial. Bradley is now married and pregnant. A state psychiatric evaluation is scheduled to aid in determining a sentence.

Blood drive at Telstar

BETHEL—A Red Cross Blood Drive is scheduled for May 24 at the Telstar High School gymnasium, from noon to 5 p.m. Most healthy adults can give blood, if they are at least 17 years old, weigh 110 pounds, and meet other basic eligibility requirements. For more information, call Alec Newell at 824-2136 or the American Red Cross Blood Services at (800) GIVE-LIFE.

Earliest season for BI&CC

BETHEL—In contrast to last year, when five feet of snow covered the course, the Bethel Inn & Country Club opened for this season April 19—the earliest date ever. Nine holes are currently open, with the remaining nine scheduled to open Friday.

State unemployment up

AUGUSTA—State Labor Commissioner Valerie Landry announced that the seasonally adjusted March unemployment rate for Maine rose to 4.2 percent in March from 3.9 percent in February. For Oxford County, the rate increased to 6.7 percent from February's 6.3 percent. "Seasonally adjusted unemployment increased between February and March as the number of Maine residents participating in the labor force increased while the number of jobs remained unchanged," said Commissioner Landry. "While it appears that the national economy is beginning to recover, many Maine employers likely are putting off hiring until business has improved substantially and it is clear that the economic slowdown has ended." Between February and March, seasonally adjusted non farm wage and salary jobs were unchanged at 609,100, as gains and losses offset each other. The largest loss was recorded by manufacturing (down 600) and the largest gain registered by retail trade (up 500). Between March 2001 and March 2002, the seasonally adjusted Maine unemployment rate rose from 3.5 percent to 4.2 percent. Seasonally adjusted non farm wage and salary jobs remained unchanged over the year. Job gains were recorded in government, services, retail trade, finance, insurance, and real estate. Manufacturing jobs declined by 7,000. Smaller job losses were recorded in construction and transportation, communication, and public utilities. Other New England states reporting their seasonally adjusted unemployment rates for March include Vermont, 3.9 percent, and New Hampshire, 4.1 percent.

Increase in deer permits proposed

AUGUSTA—After reviewing data from last year's deer harvest and combining it with population objectives designed by the public, biologists from the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife have recommended an increase in the number of Any-Deer permits for the 2002 season. IFW is recommending 76,575 permits, subject to approval by the Commissioner's Advisory Council. In 2000, 75,000 permits were recommended. In 2001, the permits numbered 54,406. Since December 2000, the statewide herd has declined by roughly 50,000 deer (18 percent) because of the effects of the severe 2001 winter. Last year's lower deer kill, combined with this year's mild winter, has allowed the herd to rebound.

Quake shakes Northeast

NEW YORK—An earthquake felt from Maine to Maryland rattled the Northeast Saturday morning with a magnitude of 5.1, according to the U.S. Geological Survey. The earthquake hit just before 7 a.m. about 15 miles southwest of Plattsburgh, in northern New York near the Vermont and Canadian borders. There were no reports of injuries, but the Vermont State Police received calls about cracked foundations and broken windows, and sections of at least two roads collapsed near the epicenter in upstate New York. In Maine, reports of the quake came in from several communities in the southern part of the state.

Training day for Special Olympics

PARIS—An Oxford County Regional Special Olympics Training Day will take place May 1 at the Gouin Sports Complex at Oxford Hills Comprehensive High School. The day provides an opportunity for participants to prepare for the upcoming 34th annual State Summer Games at the University of Maine June 7-9. Anyone interested in helping out may call 674-3910.

From the Bethel Police Log:

The moose are out

On April 16 at 8 p.m. police received a report of a dog chasing a moose at the airport. On arrival the dog was gone and the moose had crossed Route 2.

Friday, April 19

At 3:20 p.m. police were notified that a moose was on Main Street. The officer responded, but did not observe the animal.

At 6:30 p.m. police received a report of a credit card scam. The officer contacted a subject who said a male had called stating he was a police officer and the subject's daughter was in trouble. He asked for a credit card number, and the subject provided it. After the call, the subject cancelled all cards, and did not want to follow up on the incident.

At 11:47 p.m. police stopped a subject on Summer Street for a stop sign violation. It was found he showed signs of intoxication. After field sobriety tests, David Thurston, 52, of Bethel was arrested and taken to the Police Department office, where he was given a breath test. He was charged with OUI and failure to stop at a stop sign.

Saturday, April 20

At 11:15 a.m. police noticed a moose running back and forth along the river bank at a North Road business. Patrons were getting close to the animal. Employees said they would close part of the operation until the animal left.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

CORRECTION

Paid under protest, but abatements not sought until this year. In 1980, the Bethel Water District filed a letter with the Newry Town Office stating that the district would pay its taxes each year, but did so under protest. The district, however, did not file for abatements until this year. It is now seeking abatements for the years 1999, 2000, and 2001 — going back three years, as is allowed by law.

May Baskets for May Day

If I were asked the season,
I could not tell today;
I should say it still was Winter -
The Calendar says May.
If this indeed be May-day,
I must be growing old;
For nothing I was used to Do I today behold.
On May day in New England,
In that old town of ours,
We rose before the daybreak,
And went and gathered flowers.
And then in pretty baskets,
With little sprigs of green
We placed them and stole homeward,
And hoped we were not seen.

It is Earth Day. Number 32. It was on this day in 1970 that some people got together to express their concern about Mother Earth and establish a day for everyone to acknowledge the damage we are doing to it. Today, 32 years later, some of us recycle — more than in 1970 — and there is generally more knowledge of what we need to do. This weekend there was a recycling day at the Bethel Transfer station. There were balloons and cookies. This generated a little more action. There is still a great need for recycling training. I got there in the latter part of the day, but at that time there was no training going on. There was help for people in putting their recycled goods in the correct place.

Thursday, the 25th (that would be today for those of you reading this paper), is the day for the Bethel Area Poets Society's April reading. As this is National Poetry Month, I hope more of you can make it. It is from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Black Bear B&B on Sunday River Road in Newry. Come and enjoy National Poetry Month here in sleepy old Bethel area and indulge yourself in your favorite poetry.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester
The dip works. Heavy rains that came Saturday night brought up the water level at Howard Pond from its lowest level to over full. The dip built into South Shore Road at the "Overflow" drained the excess water to provide for a more normal water level. It is believed to have been the first time water ran through to the lowered portion of the road.
High water also had an effect upon the Androscoggin River as potato fields and boat ramps were under water. The warm weather got a lot of folks outside and cleaning up their yards. Next thing you know they will have their lawnmowers going.
The thundershower Wednesday afternoon did in the ice at Howard Pond. It "went out" with the winds that accompanied the showers.
In the beginning it was just a bunch of "good old boys" having some fun. It was mostly concentrated around Howard Pond. When it persisted some became agitated. Then it spread to Hanover Village with a big sign. Some of the locals wouldn't tolerate it. Righteous indignation prevailed. Now the news has gone far and wide. It escaped Hanover and crossed the river to East Bethel. This is the end of the rooster story.

North Newry

Birds, birds, birds everywhere. They are coming from all over. They come in the morning for their breakfast, and then in the afternoon around 4 p.m. for their supper. Feed them, they deserve a meal. The little birds have God for their caterer. "Hear how the bird, on every blooming spray, with joyous music wake the dawning day with sonorous notes every tone, mixed in confusion sweet, our forest ring." The birds, great nature's happy commoners, that haunt in woods, in meadows and flower gardens, rifle the sweets and taste the choicest fruits. Birds, the free tenants of earth, air and ocean, their forms all symmetry, their beautiful grace, plumage are delicate and beautiful, with wings that seem as they'd a soul within them, they bear their owners with such sweet enchantment. But then you have to cope with mice, squirrels, etc., right? But it's worth it. Feed them.

Notice to Bidders

The Town of Woodstock is now accepting sealed bids for the construction of a Handicap access ramp to be built at the Whitman Memorial Library. The ramp is to be constructed by using 6" thick concrete frost walls running in an "L" shape along the existing foundation of the Library. An appropriate amount of re-rod should be used in the walls. The space created by the new walls should be filled with gravel and compacted. The walk area should then be covered with 2" of hot top. The ramp will need to be approximately 27' long to accommodate the 27" rise from ground level to doorsill. A set of concrete poured steps is to be constructed on the high end of the ramp.
A sketch and further details are available at the Woodstock Town Office. Bids will be accepted until 5PM on Tuesday, May 7, 2002 at which time they will be opened. The Board of Selectmen reserve the right to accept or reject any or all bids. Please mark sealed bids Handicap Ramp.

LOCAL BUSINESS SPOTLIGHT

"Wiley Block, Prebs, and Now..."

For Scott and Jenna Smith, the recent renovations to what was formerly Preb's Drug Store, and before that The Wiley Block, has been a labor of love and business savvy.
Scott and Jenna, owners of Stone Mountain Mortgage Company, a mortgage brokerage company that began back in 1998 across from Pat's Pizza, have, within the past couple of years, moved and made significant changes on one of the oldest buildings in Bethel - the old Wiley Block. Using historical photographs and advice from the Bethel Historical Society, they have renovated the outside facade to emulate what the building looked like 150 years ago - down to the last little bit of trim work. In fact, the Historical Society specially recognized them for their work. However, when you walk inside, you immediately are ushered into the 21st century, with a modern office complex, complete with 13 offices, a common meeting room (available free of charge to non-profit businesses for meetings), a welcoming lobby, a high tech hypoallergenic heating and cooling system, and the high tech necessities of a small town office that connects with other business nationwide, including high-speed DSL Internet access to each office. They also lease out 3 apartments on the second level.
Scott, who grew up in Bethel, and Jenna, whose mother grew up in Bryant Pond (where Jenna spent her summers), were away from the area for a few years, but felt it was time to "come home" again, and enjoy the wonders of the area and the village, as well as conduct business locally and nationwide from a small office. The Smiths desired a Main Street, Bethel address, and when the Preb's space became available, it was a match made in-history. Scott credits Jenna's love for history and bringing things back to their original condition, as well as her desire to own reasonably priced investment property, that was the driving force behind the wonderful renovations made on the building, both inside and out. It is now known as the Stone Mountain Professional Building. However, there is consideration being made as to the possibility of changing the name back to a more historical based one.

The decision to invest in the old building, though an expensive investment, has proven to be smart business as all the offices but one are now occupied, the mortgage company has done over $30 million in origination work, representing approximately 300 transactions to date. The other businesses that co-occupy the space, made up of a plethora of occupations, get along well, and seem to be thriving.
Scott and Jenna still have more work to do on their building, including some external landscaping, and internal updates. But they are also aware of a number of businesses in the Bethel village that have done similar work with their facilities, thus beautifying our downtown area, and publicly "want to applaud them." The move and the renovations have become a much larger project than the Smiths first anticipated - by a long shot - but they are now enjoying the results, on both a business and a personal level.
We, as the Business Relations Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, want to recognize and commend Scott and Jenna on a job well done, and thank them for contributing to the business, the beauty, and the life of our community.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

I'm going to make this column brief. I'm "out of here." I'm heading to New Smyrna Beach, Fla., for a family reunion. Last week's beautiful summer-type weather conditioned me for the warmer climes.

The ice is out of the lake. Hooray. After the warm weather and monsoon rains, the wind blew a gale on the night of the 19th and it was "bye bye" ice. The lake is bank full, and if we could reach our dock we could put the boat in the water. Anyone planning on using the public landing in Cambridge should be extremely careful. There is about a three-foot drop-off at the end where the ice did a job on it.

Happenings in Upton this week were the spotting of seven turkeys and the departure of the deer. Joy Yarnell spotted ten turkeys in the Grafton Flats. She also saw a bear cross Route 26 just below Screw Auger Falls. The moose are on the loose again and all sorts of "wild things" show up every day. (Not all of them being animals.)

A warm rain during a thunderstorm turned the grass into marvelous spring green. Rakes and wheelbarrows are very active.

Ladies Aid met at Debbie Judkins'. Quilting, needlepoint and gossip were on the menu.

A phoebe is trying to prepare a nest under the eaves of the house. She is a noisy little bird and not one bit shy about where she sets up housekeeping. The Eastern Phoebe wears a dull olive coat. There are no eye rings or wing bars. She wags her tail quite often. If you don't see her you will hear her clear cry "Phoe-be" repeated often. Her habitat is open woodlands near streams. We are centered between two streams, so we are graced with her presence every year. Her breeding range is in Canada and the United States. Like some of my neighbors she winters in Florida. The Eastern Phoebe arrives early in spring and departs late in the fall. In the absence of insects the winter feed is berries. While nesting she is patient and tame. She also leaves a mess on the side of the house. The Eastern Phoebe holds the distinction of being the first banded bird. Audubon marked one with a silver wire on its leg in 1840 and was able to record its return the following year. The "Bird of the Week" is the Eastern Phoebe. She's flying north, and Ellie's flying south.

Andover

Betty and Foster Davis traveled to Portland last Friday to see singer John Prince in concert. Said he was very good. The next day they joined members of the Ellis River Riders for a scenic ride along the beach in Scarborough. Now think about this a minute. You have all seen movies where its so romantic to ride along the beach, the sun shining brightly, everyone having a really good time, including the horses, but have you ever given this a thought? How big a pooper-scooper and how many plastic bags do you have to bring, and where do you put said plastic bags if and when they are full? Takes some of the romance away, doesn't it? I had never really thought about this aspect of horseback riding before, but Betty assured me that they had been warned to be prepared for this emergency. She also said that she hoped her horses would be good and use the facilities in the horse trailer instead of the beach. I am happy to report that the horses were really well behaved and didn't use "The Big Sandlot" for anything but running on, and everyone had a really good time.

It's so good to see some green around here; in fact, yesterday I saw two forsythia bushes that had started to bloom. Our day lilies are growing like weeds, and we have some green grass on our lawn. Spring is sprung, the grass is riz, I wonder where the flowers is. I love it. On the down side of all this, coming home last Wednesday night we almost, literally, ran into a damn moose. Or I should say it almost ran into us. I am so afraid of those things. I suppose you have to take the good with the bad. Because I also saw my first robin and killed my first mosquito of the season.

Please don't forget to turn in your soup labels to the Andover Elementary School soon. Time is almost up.

Birthday celebrants for the upcoming week include David Percival on the 26th; Bob Iles and Brian Spaulding on the 29th; Harley Wheeler, Gloria Morton and Nathan Emery on the 30th; Rhonda Jodrey, Madison Fowles and Nikolas Conrad on the 1st. Happy Anniversary to Steve and Cindy Simmons on the 28th.

You will be relieved to know that the honeymooners are back safe from Ireland. They had a great time, brought me back some rocks and a surprise from Waterford. They also asked me how to make mashed potatoes — I'm not kidding, they really did. I have sent a "Cook Book for Dummies" by express mail, and told them in the meantime to go eat at Mickey Dee's.

The word for the week is "finale." Look it up. See 'ya

Franklin Grange 124 met on Monday, April 15, for a Community Service Award Night.

Over 60 people attended. Three state officers were present: State Master Steve Verrill, Sue Verrill and Rick Groton. They all spoke briefly. The Bible was opened, the prayer was given by Evelyn Bean, acting as chaplain. The opening song was "This is My Country" by all; the flag was presented and the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung by all. After the state officers spoke, the program was presented: opening thought by Bertha DeHaas; opening song, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic"; Rosalie and Leon Poland were presented the Community Service Award by Master Richard Felt and the state officers. Mr. Poland has served on the Planning Board and as selectman for several years. Mrs. Poland served several years on the Library Committee, helping earn money to build the library addition. Several members of their family attended, also some friends. Next was the Baton Twirlers from West Paris, 12 little girls and six larger girls did an excellent job of performing; poem, "Patriotic Creed" by Lucille Robbins; Richard Felt and Dot Canwell played a couple tunes; Russell Yates and Peggy Blake had a skit; Bertha read about the founding of the Grange; closing thought and closing song, "God Bless America"; final song, "Let there be Peace on Earth." Next meeting is May 6 with program on Mother's Day.

Patch the Pirate Club meets on Wednesday night same time as prayer meeting, 6:30 at the Baptist Church. Sunday services are Sunday School and Adult Bible Fellowship at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30, choir practice at 5 p.m. and evening service at 6 p.m. April 27 is spring cleaning day at the church at 8:30 a.m. April 28, Pastor Winfield Holman will be giving an update during the morning services.

Hope Edwards/Lamb, St. Petersburg, Fla., has been visiting with Joyce Hoyt. While here she attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Stacy Edwards. She also was able to visit with several other relatives in the area before returning on Tuesday of this week.

Joshua Hoyt, Portland, is spending school vacation with his grandparents, Ralph and Joyce Hoyt.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, May 2. Dinner will be put on by the Grange. Children from Agnes Gray School will sing before the dinner and Rena Robinson will show slides on Germany after the dinner.

The Daughters of Union Veterans will hold a sale on Saturday, May 18. There will be food, crafts, white elephant, good rummage, odds and ends. Lunch at noon. You may rent a table to sell your things by calling 665-2460 or 665-2915. Good rummage is welcome.

The supper and dance held to benefit Kenny Pulsifer, who has been ill and still faces operations, was a success. We wish him better health real soon.

Congratulations to Leon and Rosalie Poland of South Woodstock on receiving this year's Community Service Award given by the Franklin Grange 124 of Bryant Pond.

Also, congratulations to Don and

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

Spring is here and I've got those Dust Bunny Blues again. I've got dust bunnies floating around my house the size of Bugs Bunny.

Usually by the time I get the courage to attack the spring-cleaning it's Labor Day weekend. But this year I'm going to hop right to it. I've already laid in a good supply of TNT and some very powerful chemicals and I'm ready to go.

I like to start the annual cleaning ritual with my kitchen because it's the dirtiest room in the house and when it's done it sparkles and shines like a hospital for appliances. It's also the room I spend the most time in so when it's really clean I don't worry that amount about the rest of the house.

I tackle the kitchen cupboards first because my kitchen is almost all cupboards. I start with the dish cupboard because it isn't too bad. It's just a matter of shuffling jelly glasses and yogurt cups around and restacking the Cool Whip containers. But the food cupboard is another matter altogether.

There is stuff in there that I have no idea where it came from and in some cases, even what it is. I can understand the black currant jelly; you try something out and don't like it and then it gets shoved into the back of the cupboard. But the Tofu Helper is a real mystery.

It never fails to amaze me, every time I get about halfway through hoeing out old peanut butter and macaroni; I find that a jar of honey or a bottle of syrup has been spilled. Epoxy cement doesn't have the bonding power of old spilt syrup.

The kitchen floor is always an interesting challenge. I have several different size chisels I use for this little chore and I have experimented over the years with various types of acids to eat through the layers of scum. I am always delighted and a little in awe when I get down to the tiles and discover what color they actually are.

The appliances are easy. I clean the refrigerator inside every Thanksgiving so I just wipe down the outside and let it go at that. The stove isn't too bad either, but I simply will not do the oven no matter what. I know that isn't very Good Housekeeping-ish of me, but that's the way it is. There is something about putting a chemical that can eat through your skin right to the bone into a dark hole that is encrusted with charred food stuffs and then putting my head in there that gets to me.

As long as I can still get an occasional pie or chicken in it I don't care what it looks like. Besides, it's a good way to test the smoke detector every now and then.

The bathroom is the next room to tackle, but it's no big deal. I just go in with a spray gun and a can of white paint and rotate in a circle. This method of cleaning is quick and easy and an all white bathroom is so darn bright. The only drawback is making sure you are brushing your teeth in the right bowl. Hey, at least it's clean.

If the cobwebs in the living room aren't too bad, a few good swings with a machete is all that's required. There have been a few years I had to resort to a blowtorch, but I've been a little tidier this year and I think the machete will suffice.

Cleaning under the sofa and chair solves the mystery of a lot of missing items. I can always count on two or three bowls with solidified ice cream, several pens and pencils, a slipper or shoe (the mate having already been thrown away, of course), at least one pair of scissors that I haven't seen since Christmas, a new sweater I also haven't seen since Christmas and a large assortment of books and newspapers.

This is quite incredible when you consider the only two people living in this house are my husband and I and he is confined to a wheelchair. I can blame some of it on the grandkids, but they are not allowed to have scissors without supervision, they don't wear my slippers or shoes, they certainly were not interested in my new sweater and they don't read yet.

Once I have the spring-cleaning done and everything from one end of the house to the other is spotless, I turn into the "housekeeper from hell." I won't let anyone enter with shoes on, chairs can only be used if both feet remain on the floor and no objects of any kind are held. I allow no food to be cooked or consumed anywhere on the premises including the kitchen. And the cats are exiled to the cellar until they either kill each other or until the house is dirty again, whichever comes first.

I try to enjoy the cleanliness for as long as I can but the grandkids eventually get fed up with my standing sentry and they mutiny. Next thing I know the first crumb is on the floor and there's a bowl of ice cream solidifying under the sofa. Since it is only a matter of time before everything reverts back to the way it was, I'm not sure why I even bother at all.

The way I see it, I think I'll just skip the spring-cleaning for now and try to teach the dust bunnies under the bed how to roll over and fetch my slippers.

FRENCH COMPOSERS TO BE FEATURED

On May 2, at 7 p.m., the Arcady Music Society, in coordination with the Mahosuc Arts Council, will present an evening of classical music at Gould Academy's Bingham Auditorium. The show concludes the Arcady Music Society's 2001-02 Winter Series of five concerts by the Ariana Duo (flute and harp, shown here), with Zoran Jakovic (violin/viola) performing a program highlighting the works of French composers. The program will include works by the composers Camille Saint-Saens, Francois Debienne, Bernard Andres, Gabriel Faure and Claude Debussy. The only exception to the French theme is a work by American composer William Bolcom. Bolcom's piece, "Celestial Dinner Music for flute and harp," does hint at some inspiration from a rather odd French menu, each movement suggesting a dinner course, such as "Potage de Nuages," "Risotto with Sacrificial Lamb," "Transfiguration by Chocolate, with Olympian Espresso," and a "Coda... un petit verre d'Eau-de-Vie Eternelle par finir." The Ariana Duo is one of the most popular flute/harp duos performing in the classical music world today. Winners of the Artist International Competition and the recipient of a recording prize from the Contemporary Record Society, the duo received their musical training at the Juilliard School and the Manhattan School of Music. Tickets can be purchased at the door, adult tickets $6 and students $4. For more information, contact the Mahosuc Arts Council office at 824-3575.

about four feet high. A posted description of the antelope stated that they won't jump even a low fence. This awakened my curiosity about how these critters get into and out of fenced pastures. A few hours up the road answered my question. We came across a herd of five antelope at roadside, where barbed wire fences, four strands high and kept taut with wire spacers, lined both sides of the road. As we slowed down for pictures, the antelope retreated to the fence on the right side of the road. Now what? As we watched, first one antelope, then another, got down on their knees and crawled under the fence, whose bottom strand of wire couldn't have been more than a foot above the ground.

After we left Texas, we headed north toward Denver, Colo., where my son, Dean, and his family reside. Taking the "road less traveled," we followed two-lane roads to Santa Fe, N.M. A short distance northwest of there, we encountered Bandelier National Monument. There, the mountains and desert are cut by sandstone-lined canyons, pock-marked by naturally eroded holes of all sizes and shapes in the sheer sandstone walls. The National Monument protects the ruins of Pueblo Indians who inhabited the area about 700 years ago. These creative folks enlarged many of the naturally occurring holes in the base of the sandstone walls. They also built houses of mud-mortared stone against the base of the cliffs, sometimes building "condominiums" three stories high. Some of these villages contained hundreds of rooms, all interconnected with small crawl holes (only the foundations remain), reminding me of modern playhouses for children. If you are ever in this area, Bandelier is well worth the stop. The hiking and scenery are worthwhile, even if you are not "into" Indian ruins.

A few more hours driving northward brought us to southern Colorado and the "Great Sand Dunes" national monument. Here, sand blown across miles of desert piles into huge dunes up to 700 feet high and covering some 35 square miles. It's one heck of a beach, but it's a long way to the ocean. This area is bordered by beautiful mountain ranges with snow-capped peaks over 14,000 feet high. Numerous hiking trails provide hiking opportunities of varied difficulty, and sunbathing is unsurpassed. That is if the wind ever dies down. While we were there, we climbed about two-thirds of the way to the top of the dunes, but the blowing sand and steep dune walls near the top discouraged us. We decided to wait for another time when it might be warmer and less windy. On our way down, Snuffy spied a tumbleweed rolling across the sand about 100 yards distant. This was too much to resist, and he galloped across the sand and caught the tumbleweed. Once he caught it, he found the branches prickly and brittle; as it kept breaking in his mouth, Snuffy soon tired of the game. He let go, and the tumbleweed bounced on across the dunes. Great Sand Dunes is another landmark worth a stop if you ever travel this way.

From the

Bethel Rotary Club

Last week in Rotary, Bethel firemen Mike Jodrey and Don Murphy updated us on the Thermal Imaging Unit and proposed new Fire House building.

Long used by the military, the handheld, five-inch screen camera referred to as the thermal imaging unit allows the firemen to see in total smoke and darkness. This means they can see through walls and even follow footprints to locate people.

The Bethel department considers themselves lucky to be able to have this unit because some of the larger fire departments even don't have this unit. Mike and Don are thankful for the community's support that has led to successful fundraisers.

Those fundraisers contributed to several projects for the department. In addition to the thermal imaging unit, there is the computer simulator and training program, Jaws of Life, and rescue boat.

Architect renditions of the proposed new Fire and Rescue House on The Common were shown and described. The new building would provide for not only adequate bays for the trucks and ambulance but also for a much-needed equipment cleaning area, storage and personnel quarters and facilities.

In estimation, the new building will be approximately twice the size of the current station and rescue buildings. What many people might not know about our firemen is their self-commitment. They continuously look to improve themselves through training in order to always be prepared and to protect and aid us in many situations.

On behalf of the Bethel Rotary Club, President Bob was honored to present to Mike and Don a contribution toward the Thermal Imaging Unit acquisition.

The Bethel Rotary Club is happy again to offer a Non-Traditional Education Assistance Award. This award is given to persons, other than high school seniors, living in the SAD44 area enrolled in programs to further their education in their profession. Applications are available by contacting Rotarian Kevin Finley at 824-4913. Application deadline is May 1.

Eighty-one Wrap-a-Smile quilts will be going with Mike Liberti and Dave Nivus on April 30 to Bolivia for the Rotoplast trip. These petite quilts will be used to wrap a child in after their cleft lip/palate surgery. Thanks to our own Bethel area quilters, as many of the quilts accompanying Dave and Mike were made right here.

From the

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

This week is Grange Week throughout the 36 states where the Grange exists. The Grange was founded as the Patrons of Husbandry in 1867 by a group of civil servants led by Oliver Hudson Kelly in Washington, D.C. All of the founders were members of the Masonic order, so in a number of instances, the Grange is similar to the Masons. The Grange, however, was the first major organization to admit women on an equal basis as men due to the urging of Kelly's niece, Caroline Hall, who was later accepted as a founder of the Order.

The Grange arrived in Maine in the 1870s and was widely popular among farmers who were in the throes of an agricultural depression. It was seen as an organization that might empower farmers who were being exploited by banks, railroads, and the "interests."

Prosperity began to return in the late 1870s. The Grange declined after its initial success, but through the leadership of State Master Frederick Robie in the 1880s, began to thrive. He later became Governor of Maine and held both posts simultaneously for four years. At its height, there were over 400 Granges in the state totaling over 60,000 members.

During this time, the Grange assumed the important influence in the community that continued for more than 80 years. It established cooperative stores in halls throughout the state so that farmers could use their collective economic power to gain price advantages. The Grange, while officially non-partisan, soon was a powerful force in the Maine Legislature, supporting educational reform, economic competition, and other progressive causes. It also established libraries in halls throughout the state. With its emphasis on learning, it became the adult education opportunity for farm families until the Extension Service came along in 1914. For women in the 19th and early 20th centuries, it was a godsend, for it provided opportunities to escape the drudgery of the household with socialization opportunities with other women. It was a beacon for many bleak lives spent working on seemingly endless household and agricultural tasks.

Today, the Grange continues to support education, legislative change, and community service. It also continues to be a voice for rural life issues. Bethel was once a three-Grange town, with Bethel Grange 56 founded on 13 November 1874, Alder River on 12 March 1875, and Pleasant Valley on 29 March 1875. Bethel Grange, located in the former Pattee's Hall on Spring Street (razed in 1979), closed in 1940. The other two Granges (at East and West Bethel) continue the Grange tradition of community service, support of educational opportunities, and an emphasis on advocacy for rural life issues.

The spring meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies will be held at the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center, 10 Broad Street, on Saturday, April 27 at 2 p.m. on the sun porch of the O'Neil Robinson House. The program will include a tour of the Bethel, 150 years of railroading, and natural history exhibits followed by a video on northern New England railroading. Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

From the

Bethel Water District

As news to some and a reminder to others, when property is transferred, the seller, purchaser, and/or the realty need to notify the water and sewer utilities just as they do for the phone and lights.

Also, some people are not aware that The Bethel Water District is a separate entity from the town and the sewer department. A district is governed by a Board of Trustees that deals only with water business and its customers. If it were Bethel Water Department, it would be a section of the town government. The sewer department, or waste water treatment facility, to use a nicer name, is a department of the town and governed by selectmen and a town manager.

Call 824-2342 about water business and 824-2669 about the other.

Occasionally, payments are sent to the wrong office, but we have a good relationship with the people in the office up the street, and the payments reach their proper destination.

From the

Oxford Pomona Grange 2

On April 2, this Pomona Grange met at Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond for a 6:30 p.m. supper followed by the meeting at 7:30 p.m. It was a special meeting because there were a number of guests from State Grange and the fifth degree was conferred.

State Grange officers and committee members present and introduced were: Vicki Huff, State Pomona; Yvonne Johnson, Jr. deputy; Norma Meserve and Jane Gordon of the membership committee; Stan Howe, historian and legislative committee; Steven Haycock of the Youth Grange. Among the visitors were two from Androscoggin Pomona, three from Cumberland Pomona and one from York Pomona.

Six who had recently taken their first four degrees here when a degree day was held became Pomona members by taking the fifth degree. There were two from Rumford Grange, three from Waterford and one from Alder River. One other was unable to be present but has applied to become a Pomona member.

At this time, the cookie-baking contest at this level was held and winners were Gloria Abbott for women and Russell Yates for men.

The literary program was kept short because of the length of time needed for the degree work and included a new quiz question: what animal becomes another if you drop the first letter of its name? (I think I know this one.) The closing thought was: "Those who try to be a one-person show often find they're the only one in the audience."

Another longtime member from Mount Sugarloaf Grange has passed away. Resolutions of Respect were read for Helen Convery.

The next meeting will be on May 7 at Bear Mountain Grange in South Waterford. Maine-New Hampshire night will be at Lakeside Grange in Harrison on May 18, with a 7:30 p.m. meeting after a 6 p.m. supper. Many are still looking forward to meeting with Azis-cos Grange in Wilson's Mills on June 1.

From the Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

Installation of officers for the coming year will take place on the regular meeting night of May 2 at 7 p.m.

Members are requesting that people in Greenwood, Milton Plantation and Woodstock with a family member currently serving in the armed forces and who would like to display a blue star service banner in their windows to please contact a member. The unit has some and will get more as needed.

The unit is also trying to find girls who would like to attend Girls State at Husson College in late June, as they always pay to send at least one girl and sometimes two. They are also requesting applications for college scholarships.

It was gratifying to receive a thank-you note from Amy Gaidis that told us she competed in National Snow Boarding championships at Mammoth Mountain in California, placing 12th in the time trials and 18th overall among 25 competitors in her age group. She may take part again next year when the 2003 Nationals will be held at Sunday River.

Junior member Hannah Lyon will be the Poppy Girl this year, and you will see her with Vera Cross at various times distributing the Memorial poppies. Hannah is the daughter of Bethany Lyon and granddaughter of Marianne Fifield.

Sympathy is extended to member Bertha Walker on the recent loss of her mother.

It is hoped that Zylpha Gibbs and Helvi Cary, who have recently undergone surgery, will soon be out and around in good health.

The attendance at the supper and dance held April 9 was quite good, and it is hoped that it will be even better on May 14. Norm and Betty, The Two of Us, will be furnishing the dance music.

From the Mason McMillin Round Robin Bridge Club

The Mason-McMillin Round Robin Bridge Club ended its year with final bridge games and a banquet at the Town and Country Motor Inn in Gorham, N.H. At the top of the list for accumulated points this year was Frank Gibson Jr., followed by Chris Otten, Alan Bradford, Sally Ramage, Dutch Dresser, Howard Cole, Joanna Drummond, Doris Peterson, Wendy Penley and Mary Gale. The highest score for a single day went to Rich Grover, and the high score for the final games went to Wendy Gray.

The teams of players get together twice a month from September to April to play 24 hands of bridge. The club offers a chance to meet members of the community and is a challenging way to improve your bridge playing skills. We are always seeking additional players. If you are interested in joining the Mason-McMillin Round Robin Bridge Club, you may contact Jan Todd at 824-3209.

From the Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats will hold a Second District Candidates Forum on Wednesday, May 8, at the Rumford Town Hall on Congress Street. The evening will begin at 6:30 with the opportunity to visit informally with the Democratic candidates for Maine's Second Congressional District, followed by a moderated question and answer session at 7. The event will be filmed for broadcast on Oxford County access channels. The public is welcome to attend.

From the Whitman Memorial Library

Whitman Memorial Library has had an exciting winter. Our Book

Discussion Group has been very successful. We had author Dean Bennett here on April 11, and many came and enjoyed his discussion about the "Wilderness from Chamberlain Farm." His book is available here at the library.

We have many exciting plans for this summer, so keep your eyes out for something that may interest you. We will be doing our Summer Reading Contest again this year.

At this time we have beautiful oil paintings of children done by Nadja Bolio. She also has some birdhouses on display. Come and enjoy her artistry.

Here is a list of some of the newest books we have bought: "Heaven and Earth" by Nora Roberts, "101 Crafts Under $10", "Desire" by Nicole Jordan, "The Fiery Cross" by Diana Gafaldon, "Starting Over" by Robin Pilcher, "Orchid Blues" by Stuart Woods, "Jack Daws" by Ken Follett, "Violets are Blue" by James Patterson, "Fleeced" by Carol Higgins Clark, "Emerald Windows" by Terri Blackstock, "Up Country" by Nelson Demville, "Smoke in Mirrors" by Jayne Ann Krentz, "One Door Away From Heaven" by Dean Koontz, "Three Weeks in Paris" by Barbara Taylor Bradford, "Just Beyond Tomorrow" by Beatrice Small, "Strangers in the Night" by Linda Howard, "The Summons" by John Grisham.

We just recently had some books donated and here they are: "The Bonesetter's Daughter" by Amy Tan, "God's Debris" by Scott Adams, "How the Irish Saved Civilization" by Thomas Cahill, "Black Elk Speaks" by John G. Neihardt, "Care of the Soul" by Thomas Moore, "An Intimate History of Humanity" by Theodore Zeldin, "The Lion in Winter" by James Goldman, "Under the Red Flag" by Ha Jin, "Waiting" by Ha Jin, "Interpreter of Maladies" by Jhumpa Lahiri, "The Four Agreements" by Don Miguel Ruiz.

We also received three donated audio books: "Point of Origin" by Patricia Cornwell, "Rivers of Hidden Dreams" by Connie Fowler, "Moment of Truth" by Lisa Scottoline.

We will always welcome any donations of books, audio books and videos.

NOTICE OF LAYOUT & TAKING

The state of Maine by its Department of Transportation does hereby give notice to whom it may concern:

That the Department of Transportation in accordance with the authority of Title 23 MRSA Section 651, has determined that public exigency requires the altering, widening, changing the grade, changing the drainage, laying out and establishing a portion of State Highway "25" in the Town of Dixfield, County of Oxford.

That the Department of Transportation, in accordance with Title 23 MRSA Sections 701 and 651, hereby lays out the location of a portion of State Highway "25" in the Town of Dixfield.

The Department of Transportation directs that this Notice of Layout and Taking be recorded in the Registry of Deeds of Oxford County (Eastern District) and filed with the Town Clerk of the Town of Dixfield and with the County Commissioners of Oxford County and published in the "Oxford County Citizen", a newspaper published in the County where said highway is located; and also directs that a copy of the Right-Of-Way Map be filed with the County Commissioners of said County and also that Notice be sent by Certified Mail to any Owners and Mortgagees of Record, Dated 2/25/02 at Augusta, Maine, State of Maine Department of Transportation, John G. Melrose, Commissioner.

STATE OF MAINE

COUNTY OF KENNEBEC, ss. Dated: 2/25/02

Personally appeared the above named John G. Melrose, Commissioner, Department of Transportation, and acknowledged the foregoing instrument to be his free act and deed in his said capacity and the free act and deed of the State of Maine. Before me, Sharon R. Dunn, Notary Public. This is a true copy. Attested: Bernadette Fox.

The following Slope Easements and/or Slope Easements with Toe of Slope Ditches taken at the locations and within the limits hereinafter described may be vacated provided that the owner in fee of the land underlying said easements makes application to the Department of Transportation setting forth therein the proposed alterations within said limits that proposes relief of the necessity for said easements for highway purposes. If in the opinion of the Department the proposed alteration or such amendment thereto, mutually agree upon, in fact does negate the necessity for highway purposes, the said department shall vacate said easement on completion of the alteration of amendment thereto.

SLOPES

The right to enter, clear, grub and/or construct, and maintain slopes of the highway, as long and they are necessary for highway purposes, on land outside of and adjoining the State Highway "25" boundary lines and within the limits defined by the "Construction Limit Lines" as shown on the beforementioned right-of-way map, at the following locations:

Although Dr. Herlihy and Dr. Rogers work miles apart, they stay closely connected. That's how they make sure your child gets the best pediatric care. Both doctors are part of MaineHealth, the premier family of healthcare services in southern, central, and western Maine. Working together, they can offer exceptional care. While at Stephens Memorial Hospital, your child will receive the best in medical care delivered by board-certified pediatricians with years of experience. And while we hope you'll never need it, our family includes the highest level of care available in Maine - care that only Maine Medical Center can offer. As our network continues to strengthen and grow, our family can do more for yours. For more information, please call 207-743-5933.

CPS Kindergarteners Have Enjoyed Learning About China this Month!

Students at Crescent Park School have been studying about the country of China enabling them to fulfill several objectives in the social studies curriculum. The students engaged in a variety of activities to help learn about the Chinese culture. Pictured above are Mattie Seamans and Jessica Dirago displaying the salt dough maps they created highlighting The Great Wall, the capital Beijing, and the Gobi and Taklimakan Deserts, the Himalayas, and the Yangtze River. Also pictured are David Guay and Reed Thurston sharing their maps in front of scrolls, fans, and paper cutting activities made by the students.

College student and local resident Colin Penley, pictured above with the four kindergarten classes, visited CPS to talk about his travels through China last fall. He shared many experiences and displayed items of interest indigenous to China.

First Graders at CPS Have Been Learning About Air

First-graders at Crescent Park School have been studying air. Shown here are members of Mrs. Salway's first-grade class with their illustrations for the class poem they wrote about wind.

First Grade Students Learn How to Make Crystals

Crescent Park School first-grader Avery Rossow and his mom, Stacey, taught a lesson to classmates on Making Crystals. After the solution was mixed, each student placed a pipe cleaner wand inside the solution. Later in the day, crystals had already started to form on the wands. Mrs. Rossow is a weekly parent volunteer in Mrs. Norma Salway's classroom.

Kindergarteners have just completed a unit on Dinosaurs

Ms. Haines' kindergarten class recently completed a unit on dinosaurs. Here is the class holding dinosaur pillows they made.

Telstar Students Help Kindergarteners Read Across America

On Read Across America Day, Telstar High School students came into the classrooms to read books to the students. Here is a student reading to children in Ms. Haines' kindergarten class.

THE WIND

Written by Mrs. Salway's Gr 1 Class

Makes waves across the water.

Blows dandelion fuzz off.

Blows kites way up in the air.

Swirls leaves in the air.

Moves clouds across the sky.

Blows dirt in your face so you can not see.

Pushes windmills around and around.

Blows paper cups off the table when we have a picnic.

Makes our flag move back and forth.

Bends all the tall grass.

Dries Clothes on the clothesline.

It's Been a Busy Month at Andover Elementary School!

The winner for the month of March Birthday Authors raffle was Sarah Averill, she selected a pair of folding sunglasses for her prize, a good choice as we are all looking forward to some sunny days.

Grade 5 students were recently honored at a special breakfast prepared by the kindergarten class. The menu included fresh fruit, blueberry pancakes, and juice. Mmmm!

Andover School held the annual Curriculum Fair on April 4. Students worked on their paper mache planets.

Students Celebrate Spring Fling at Woodstock Elementary School

Spring Fling Week at WES. Grade 3 students Brook Hutchins and Ravine Russell battling out a checker game in the Checker Tournament. Kimberlei Dean watches on to make sure every thing is "above" board!

High School Varsity Baseball

Gould 12, Telstar 2; April 19—The Gould varsity baseball team played its best game of the season as they beat Telstar. The bats finally woke up from the long winter hibernation, as Gould pounded out nine hits, including doubles by Billy Murphy, Anthony Liberti, and Tucker Roberts. Roberts, Emmett Donovan, and Karl Olson each collected two hits in the game. The defense continued to shine, as Kane Olson pitched five innings, allowing only one hit and striking out nine, and Roberts followed up with two innings, striking out three and allowing only one hit. The team is looking ready for their upcoming MAISAD schedule. —coach Chris Olson.

Hebron 5, Gould 4; April 19—In the opening game of the MAISAD season, Gould fell to Hebron Academy in a fast-paced, well-played contest. Briar Bouthot scored two goals for Gould, and Rory Dwyer and Charlie Edwards notched one each. Captain Dylan Hood paced Gould's attack with control and strong team leadership. "As the team learns to stay out of penalty trouble, sharpen up the clearing, and finish on the shots, good things will continue to happen," said coach Will Graham.

Girls' Varsity Lacrosse

Brewster 16, Gould 10; April 13—Megan Holtham scored three goals for Gould in a loss to Brewster Academy. Sarah Velte and Ally Goddard each scored twice, with Chelsea Marshall, Kate Warner, and Betsy Caraboolad adding one goal apiece. Marshall had two assists in the game, and Warner had one.

Gould 11, Sanford 3; April 20—Gould and Sanford played a continuation of Wednesday's game, which was called due to lightning. Ally Goddard scored three goals for Gould, and Megan Holtham, Sarah Velte, and Betsy Caraboolad each scored two. Kate Warner had one goal and one assist. Chelsea Marshall scored one goal, and Sarah Felton had one assist.

Gould 16, Kents Hill 3; April 22—Betsy Caraboolad scored four of Gould's 16 goals in a victory over Kents Hill on Monday. Ally Goddard and Megan Holtham each scored three goals, and Sarah Felton and Sarah Velte scored two apiece. Kate Warner and Chelsea Marshall each added a goal, and Gould goalie Erin Curry had a great game with 14 saves. The Gould defense also shone, allowing Kents Hill only 20 shots on goal.

Girls' Varsity Tennis

Hebron 4, Gould 1; April 17—Although Gould lost to Hebron in their first match of the season, the highlight of the day for Gould was the second doubles match, in which freshmen Mason Friedman and Brianna Noyes handily defeated their opponents, 6-0, 6-1.

Boys' Varsity Tennis

Gould 4, Bridgton 1; April 16—The Gould team improved their record to 2-0 with a win over Bridgton Academy. Friedrich Anger won at first singles, 6-3, 6-2, and Jan Ostendorf won at second singles, 6-1, 6-1. Whitney Stowell won at third singles, 6-0, 6-1, and In Jac Kim won at fourth singles, 6-2, 6-1. Jack Reynolds and Francis Wolff won their second doubles match, 6-3, 7-6.

Madison 168, Mt. Valley 99, Hall Dale 99, Telstar 90, Dirigo 73, Mt. Abram 20, Valley 2; April 18—Individual Telstar scorers: Fred Bailey 1st 800 and 3,200; 2nd 1,600; Jared Howe 2nd high jump, 6th 100 and 200; Alex Helms 4th 100 and 200; Andrew Farrington 5th 1,600, 4th 3,200; Joe Reynolds 3rd 400; Dustin Angevine 6th 400; Scott Withey 5th long jump; Mike Hoy 5th 200; Glenn Carver 6th 200; J. BUSINESS CARDS

The Bethel Citizen
Is The Place to Buy Business Cards!
Prices start as low as $30.00 for 500!
A deluxe white card stock is used with your choice of black, process blue, dark blue, red, green, brown, or custom colored ink.
The printing is thermography so the lettering is raised for a nice textured and professional look.

MARY NOYES

Mary Noyes, 82, of South Main Street, Bryant Pond, died Tuesday, April 16, 2002 at Market Square Health Care, Norway.

She was born in Norway on May 27, 1919, a daughter of Bertram and Sadie Adley Cash. She attended the Bell Hill School in Otisfield, where she lived until her marriage to Frederick C. Noyes in 1939. At that time she moved to Bryant Pond.

Mrs. Noyes worked at Penley Corp. in West Paris from 1956 until her retirement in 1991, at the age of 72.

She loved to cook and enjoyed knitting. She also enjoyed having her family together at the holidays.

Card of Thanks

Many, many thanks to my friends and family for the prayers, cards, gifts, flowers, phone calls, and visits during my recent illness and recovery at Central Maine Medical Center.

Your expressions of concern for my welfare during this period certainly uplifted my spirits and aided in my recovery.

I will always be grateful to all you who helped me through these difficult times

May God Bless You All,
Sincerely,
Paul Bartlett

8th Anniversary

Nov 16, 1944 - May 1, 1994

In Loving Memory of J. Russell Fifield

My life goes on without you, but your presence is with me every day.

Miss you always
Love,
Wife & Family

Her husband died in March of 1999.

Survivors include two sons, Frederick III and Sherbourne, both of Bryant Pond; one daughter, Anna Beth Ward of Mechanic Falls; nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by two brothers, Errol and Bertram; and two sisters, Gladys Lord and Erdine Tripp.

A graveside service will be held at 11 a.m. on Saturday, April 27, at Lakeside Cemetery, Bryant Pond, with the Rev. Clayton Haley officiating. If desired, donations can be made to Tri-Town Rescue, P.O. Box 275, West Paris, ME 04289.

HOLMAN C. DAVIS

Holman C. Davis, 82, of Wilton, died unexpectedly of natural causes at his home on Wednesday, April 10, 2002.

He was born in Farmington on Oct. 29, 1919, the son of Royal and Ethel (Craig) Davis. He graduated from Farmington High School in 1937, and was noted for his athleticism in many sports, which followed him throughout his life. He also attended Tilton (N.H.) Prep School for a year.

On Oct. 25, 1940 he married Pauline Getchell in Rangeley.

His working years included Wilton Woolen Co., G.H. Bass, and self-employment as a sign painter.

Card of Thanks

I would like to thank my family, friends, American Legion Auxiliary and the DUV for the support given following my surgery. It was much appreciated.

God Bless
Helvi C.

Card of Thanks

The family of Helena Bartlett wishes to thank her friends for the cards, food, church donations, and caring support we received in our time of sorrow.

Special thanks to Tri-Town Rescue, Ledgeview Living Center, Rumford Community Home, Locke Mills Union Church and Bethel United Methodist Church.

We truly appreciate your outpouring of care and support

Sincerely,
Paul & Marie Bartlett

He was active for many years in the Wilton Boy Scouts, establishing the Explorer Scout Post in 1956, which he advised for more than a decade. In 1962 he received the prestigious Silver Beaver Award for outstanding service as a senior scout leader.

His great love of the outdoors was his most noteworthy legacy, including cycling, cross-country skiing, canoeing (refurbishing many canoes as well), fishing, bow hunting, camping, and hiking. This interest culminated in his operation of Sebobe Wilderness Trips for boys, which lasted nearly a decade.

Survivors include two sons, Craig and his wife Sondra of Wilton and Dale and his wife Wendy of Hudson, Fla.; a daughter, Dawn and her husband Leon Seamon of Jay; two brothers, Randall of San Diego, Calif., and Lawrence of Bethel; seven grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren. He was predeceased by his wife of 57 years.

Funeral services were held on April 15 at the Adams Funeral Home in Farmington, with burial at the New Sharon Cemetery.

BEATRICE BURRIS

Beatrice (Olson) Burris, 91, formerly of Magalloway and West Bethel, died Sunday, April 14, 2002 at Ledgeview Nursing Center, West Paris, where she had been a resident since 1995.

She was born in Wilson's Mills on June 2, 1910, a daughter of Lewis and Agnes (Linnell) Olson and attended Wilson's Mills schools and graduated from high school there. She later attended Bangor Theological Seminary in 1958 and 1959.

She served as minister in West Bethel, Locke Mills, Upton and
